Subject: Electronic Reporting Proposed (Federal Register: August 31, 2001)

I think it is great that we are finally getting to this point with reporting. We are already sending our applications to the Department of the Interior electronically. My question is with the signatures. The problem is that the person who usually has authority to sign is not the same person who would send the document. Would it be acceptable for someone other than the person signing to electronically send the documents? If so, would a hard copy of the signature page be required to be sent via mail? This is really the only issue that I feel we have questions. Please let me know the solution to this issue. Thanks,
